Dear Parents,

Greetings!!

December is an important month for many people around the world, as it marks the end of the year and brings with it a sense of closure and new beginnings. It is a month that holds significance for many different reasons, and it is a time when people come together to celebrate, reflect, and look ahead to the future. It also provides us with a chance to showcase our dedication to the school as we eagerly anticipate the highly anticipated event, the Annual Day. Let us all greet December with immense passion and enthusiasm.

The most anticipated occasion on the school calendar is the Annual Day celebration. November is a well-known month for preparing and executing the event. Students of all grades were occupied with regular practice sessions, while teachers worked tirelessly to ensure its success. The Annual Day practice includes dance performances, plays, musical events, and speeches, all of which are cherished moments filled with dress rehearsals, run-throughs, and boundless enthusiasm. This yearly event brings together teachers, students, school management, and parents on a common platform to enjoy the festivities.

On the academic front, students participated in an activity based on measurement in Mathematics. The primary objective was to provide students with a tangible experience in applying the metric system to measure length, mass, and capacity. By creating a chart that incorporated everyday objects and their corresponding metric measurements, students were encouraged to develop a practical understanding of the metric units and their relevance in real-world scenarios. By creating a chart based on the metric system, students not only honed their measurement skills but also gained a deeper appreciation for the practical applications of the metric units in their daily lives. In an engaging and educational EVS activity, students learned the principles of Reduce, Reuse, and Recycle (3R's) while simultaneously putting these concepts into action. The activity aimed to raise awareness about environmental sustainability and inspire creative thinking by transforming old items into new objects. Through hands-on experience, students discovered the potential in repurposing old items, fostering a sense of responsibility towards a more sustainable future.

Students celebrated Sharing and Caring week in the school and made ‘I care for you, my friends’ cards to express the values of caring and sharing. They also enjoyed a potluck lunch, sharing lunch with their friends. The students also enthusiastically participated in a donation drive organised by the school for Deep Ashram and contributed whole heartedly.

With the arrival of December, we also commemorate the birth of Lord Jesus Christ on Christmas. Let us cherish the true essence of Christmas, which is to spread love and peace. As the winter season approaches, we eagerly anticipate the new beginnings and fresh hopes that come with the start of a new year in January. May the joy of Christmas and the hope of a new year fill our hearts with happiness and optimism. Wishing you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!
