“ Learning is not attained by chance, it must be sought for with ardor and diligence.” -Abigail Adams

Dear Parents,

Greetings!!

After having a fun-filled summer vacation with family and friends, children rejoined school with a lot of enthusiasm and cheerfulness. The month of July was filled with exciting activities, joyous celebrations and interesting collaborative learning experiences.

In the month of August we are focusing on more exciting and rewarding ways to begin the month with new hopes, aspirations, and energy. Last month various activities were conducted in the class to keep spirits high and facilitate students' interaction with the class teachers and their peers.

As Fathers are every child's hero, role model as well as a source of inspiration, we celebrated Father's Day with much pomp and fun with indoor and outdoor activities at the very beginning of the month. Students were overwhelmed to witness their father's performing and participating along with them in lemonade making activity and outdoor races. It was heart-warming to witness the father-child bond over fun games and activities.

In the third week of the month of July, a Book Week celebration was conducted in order to inculcate the habit of reading books among the young minds and also to raise awareness among the students on the importance of reading books. Activities like My Dream Story, Characters on the Floor, Poem Recitation and Book in a Jar (Intra Class Competition) were planned for the students. They took active interest and participated in each activity with great sincerity.

On the academic front, the learning process was made interesting through different activities, as teaching went beyond books. In EVS, students made various types of houses using clay in their pottery class. They also made various types of houses using origami paper and pasted it in their EVS notebooks. As a part of learning by doing, students created their country's national symbols and gave a class presentation individually on the same. In English, students recapitulated the concept of gender, punctuation and pronouns through a fun-filled activity where they sorted the singular and plurals according to the change in plural rules. Students also enjoyed their Math session where they learned subtraction and also enjoyed an activity about various shapes .

The value of the month was Courage. Over the course of the month, we discussed that by being courageous we can overcome any fear or any obstacle in life. Students discussed instances of showing courage and were given their courage badge.

To acknowledge the overall excellence and to recognize the achievement of our brilliant students, the Proficiency Ceremony was celebrated at the very end of the month of July. Our honourable Principal felicitated the students who had shown excellent performances overall in the last academic session (2022-2023).
