On the same lines, 10 inauspicious qualities of Ravana were linked with 10 bad habits among young children like wasting food, fighting with friends, disturbing animals, use of mobile phones, eating unhealthy food etc with the help of placards held by the children. MORAL VALUES

Life is a goal. Every goal can be successfully achieved if guided by rules. For us humans, rules are the morals and principles which guide us and help us distinguish between right and wrong.

Moral values help us shape our character/ personality. Moral values like honesty, integrity, hard work, focus and respect for all should be taught to children early in their formative years. The students should be able to differentiate between right and wrong. These abilities will not only make them a good child, a good parent, a good citizen but most importantly a 'GOOD HUMAN BEING'. This will not only help the individual but the whole society and humanity at large.
