“An Investment in knowledge pays the best interest.”

Dear Parents,
Greetings!

As an action-packed August gives place to the calmness of September, it is time to enjoy the weather change and the slow pace before the festivities set in. The month of August was full of academics and experiential learning and celebrating patriotism.

On the academic front, students recapitulated cursive writing of the letters a to z, learned about vowels (a, e, i, o, u) and consonants, and practiced cluster words with the vowel ‘a’ (at, ab, ad, ag). To enhance their vocabulary, they learnt sight words to increase their vocabulary. The introduction of sorting and grouping, the concept of tens and ones (1-90) with a recapitulation of concept- missing numbers, after, before, and between through various activities was done. In the theme ‘Food’ children were educated on the concepts of healthy and junk food, balanced diets, nutrition, and the significance of food through a variety of activities. These activities included Salad Day, food hygiene exercises, role-playing scenarios depicting the diet of ancient civilizations, games involving the sorting of healthy and junk foods, as well as presentations showcasing the importance of food in various festivals and celebrations.

Students celebrated Heritage Week with great enthusiasm, immersing themselves in activities that highlighted India's rich cultural legacy. The celebration began with the making of Culture Coaster , where they creatively crafted traditional art work. This hands-on activity not only engaged their artistic skills but also introduced them to the diversity of Indian attire and customs. The festivities continued with a Heritage Quiz, where the young learners eagerly participated, answering questions about India’s heritage, famous monuments, and cultural symbols. This quiz served as an interactive way to enhance their knowledge about the country’s history and traditions. The highlight of the week was an Intra class National Leader competition, where the children dressed up as their favorite leaders and freedom fighters. From Mahatma Gandhi to Rani Lakshmibai, the kids proudly represented the heroes who played significant roles in India’s freedom struggle. Their performances were both charming and inspiring, showcasing their understanding of these historical figures. Additionally, the children made tricolor jets and dressed in the colors of the Indian flag—saffron, white, and green—adding a patriotic touch to the celebration. Heritage Week not only educated the children about India’s past but also instilled a sense of pride in their cultural identity.

Janmashtami celebration was a joyful and creative event for the students, centered around the theme of Lord Krishna. To mark the occasion, the children enthusiastically participated in an activity where they made and decorated ‘Kanha ka Jhula’, one of Lord Krishna's iconic symbols. Using simple materials like paper, ice cream sticks , straw and colorful stones stickers, the kids crafted ‘Jhula’. The Janmashtami ‘Kanha ka Jhula’-making activity more than just a craft, it was a way for the children to engage with the traditions and stories of the festival, making the celebration both educational and fun. The beautifully decorated ‘Jhula’ served as a reminder of the joy and devotion associated with Janmashtami, leaving them with fond memories of the celebration.

Pride was the value for the month and it was wonderful to see the students engaged so enthusiastically with the value of pride by creating Tiranga craft. This activity not only allowed them to express their patriotism but also instilled a deeper appreciation for their nation. Such hands-on activities are a great way to teach values, making them more tangible and memorable for the children. The sense of pride they felt in creating these crafts will likely stay with them, reinforcing their connection to the nation's symbols and heritage.

Raksha Bandhan Celebrations

During the joyous festivities of Raksha Bandhan, students wholeheartedly participated in creating personalised rakhis for Indian soldiers. This thoughtful gesture was more than just a craft activity—it was a way for the children to express their gratitude, respect, and heartfelt appreciation for the brave men and women who protect our nation. The beautifully handcrafted rakhis, along with warm messages, were a touching tribute from the children, embodying the spirit of the festival in its truest sense. This activity not only allowed the kids to express their creativity but also instilled a sense of patriotism and respect for those who protect our nation.

The Theme Assembly by the UKG students was a truly beautiful and memorable event. The children brilliantly enacted the entire theme of "Me and Myself," which included various aspects such as family members, joint and extended families, nuclear families, different rooms in the house, personal hygiene, and learning to take care of themselves. An important part of the assembly was the sensitive yet vital topic of Good Touch and Bad Touch, which the children conveyed with clarity and confidence, helping to raise awareness about personal safety in an age-appropriate manner. Their performance was a perfect blend of education and creativity, showcasing the children's remarkable talents, confidence, and enthusiasm. The assembly not only engaged the audience but also effectively conveyed important life lessons about family values, self-care, personal boundaries, and responsibility. Through their expressive acting, lively songs, and colorful props, the students brought these concepts to life in an enjoyable and easy-to-understand way. Overall, the event was a perfect blend of education and creativity, showcasing the children's talents and spreading an important message about the environment. Along with the presentations, the holiday homework of all the students was displayed in the corridor. This showcase highlighted their creativity and effort. It provided an opportunity for everyone to appreciate the hard work and talent of the children.

For Friendship Day, the UKG students joyfully crafted friendship bands using wool, paper and glue. The activity was filled with excitement as the children carefully created their bands, each one unique and colorful. The highlight of the day was when they exchanged these handmade bands with their friends, filling the room with smiles and happiness. The experience not only fostered creativity but also strengthened the bonds of friendship among the children.

Theme Activity: Tiny Hands, Tasty Creations!

As part of a recent Theme activity, the children enjoyed a delightful hands-on experience making fresh salads right in the classroom — all under the careful guidance of their teacher and without the use of fire. This engaging session gave the young learners a chance to express their creativity while discovering the importance of healthy food choices in a fun and meaningful way. The children were excited to prepare their own colorful, nutritious salads, building confidence in basic food preparation and gaining a deeper appreciation for healthy eating.

A heartfelt celebration of Teachers' Day awaits, honoring our mentors who inspire and guide us every day.

Bagless Day was a vibrant celebration filled with fun and learning! Children participated in exciting games and engaging fine and gross motor skill activities that encouraged movement and coordination. We carried out a variety of tasks to support physical development— the scissors activity helped enhance fine motor control and hand-eye coordination, while the Hoopla and Ball Race and the Cup Ball Race promoted balance, agility, and active movement. These activities were not only fun but also effective in building essential motor skills. Adding to the joy, teachers narrated the moral tale "The Intelligent Lamb" using colorful
